Catherine Donnelly Foundation Launches Redesigned Website and Online Grant Application

TORONTO, January 8, 2016 – The Catherine Donnelly Foundation, a charitable grant-making foundation located in Toronto, has recently launched a redesigned website, as well as an online grant application portal.

The Catherine Donnelly Foundation's website is intended to provide information to prospective and past grantees, sector and foundation partners, and others. The launch of the new website, found at www.catherinedonnellyfoundation.org, offers simple access to information on past Catherine Donnelly Foundation grants, application guidelines and biases, and an overview of the Foundation's history and founders. The website provides detailed, easy to find information on the functions of the Foundation.

In conjunction with the newly redesigned website, the Foundation has also launched an online grants application process. Charitable organizations applying to the Foundation will now submit requests for funding in a paperless manner through the online system powered by FluidReview. This new method of applying and reporting to the Foundation will simplify the process for applicant organizations. The online grant application system is found at <http://grants.catherinedonnellyfoundation.org>

This online refresh coincides with the Foundation's recent celebration of the Catherine Donnelly Foundation's celebration of 10 years of providing grants to charitable organizations across Canada.
